Mission Viejo to Show In Orange County Fair

"Family Fun for '71" is the theme of this year's Orange County Fair, which will be held July 13 through 18, at the Fairgrounds, Costa Mesa.

The five-day event will include such attractions as the Pat Boone Show; Skiles and Henderson; Lawrence Welk stars; Bob Baker Marionettes; motorcycle racing; horse shows; fine arts and home economics exhibits and demonstrations; a three-ring circus; flower, photo and gem shows; recreation vehicle show and the livestock auction, with students from Mission Viejo High School's FFA program participating.

The Fair will also feature exhibits representative of the Orange County area. Mission Viejo will be represented with a photographic-feature display "What's Happening in Your Town?" Senior Citizen's Day is planned for July 14, with an oldtime vaudeville show scheduled on stage in the Amphitheater at 4:30 p.m.

Being introduced this year are such features as the rural Olympics, with contests in goat milking, cornhusking, pie-eating, grease pig racing, hog calling, hay bucking and a tug-of-war. Visit Orange County Fair and share in "Family Fun for '71."

MV Golf Club To Be Private Facility in Fall

Mission Viejo Golf Club will become a private amenity on October 1, it was announced by Tony Moiso, senior vice-president, Mission Viejo Company.

After five years as a public facility, the scenic 160-acre course, more expansive than most 18-hole courses, will be open to membership on a limited basis. Charter memberships will be available to an initial 100 persons, with present club members and residents of the community having first priority. It will then be opened to an additional 100 individual, family and corporate memberships. Social memberships will also be available.

The golf course, already recognized as one of the most challenging courses in the west, was designed by Robert Trent Jones. It has been the scene of a number of professional and amateur tournaments. The Southern California Pro-Am was held at Mission Viejo in 1970, as was the Celebrity Golf Classic, with television and motion picture personalities and sports figures meeting with golfers from throughout California. The recent Sportscasters' Tournament found noted sports figures competing with members of radio and television in match play competition.

Jim Murray, sports columnist of the Los Angeles Times, once dubbed the Mission Viejo course as "Mission Impossible," as its 18 holes offer a great test of skill to pro golfers and amateurs alike. Southern California Golf Association rules govern play at the course.

According to Tommy Mitchell, general manager of Mission Viejo Golf Club, an expansion of facilities is nearing completion. At present, men's locker facilities with sauna room and valet service are being added to the main (Continued on page 9)
European Art Purchase Presented to MV Inn

One of the only known complete sets of authenticated lithographs by the French artist Blanchard was presented to the Mission Viejo Golf Club by Richard J. O'Neill, director of Mission Viejo Company and president of O'Neill Properties.

More than 100 years old, the lithographs are handpainted by Sabatier and depict early bullfights of Madrid.

The French lithographer and painter Henry Pierre Leon Pharamond Blanchard did the original prints. The 12 works portray scenes of the toreros, Matadores, picadores, rejonadores and La estocadca (the kill).

The collection was purchased from Don Sterng, and originally belonged to Brian Keith, motion picture and television actor. They have been placed in the Salo de Fiesta and dining room of Mission Viejo Inn, as well as the private office area of the club.

Jane Oliver, art consultant and private art broker, arranged for the purchase of the collection.

Clark Named to Financial Post

Philip J. Reilly, president of Mission Viejo Company, has announced the appointment of Roger Clark as director of financial planning.

Clark, a certified public accountant, was most recently vice-president and controller for National First Mortgage Corporation in Anaheim. He was vice-president and controller for Brentwood Mortgage Corporation and supervisor at Peat, Marwick and Mitchell, prior to joining the Anaheim firm.

Prompt New Unit Opening

Response has been so great that we are now taking reservations on the second unit of 140 townhomes which will be ready for occupancy in November," Kent said.

Kent noted that superb view lots are being offered in the second unit and that all the townhomes are built on terraced bluff sites providing homeowners with spectacular views of the hills surrounding Mission Viejo.

Both single and two-story plans are available in two and three-bedroom models. Features include patios, balconies, powder rooms, step-down living rooms, walk-in pantries, and closets.

Also featured are individual utility rooms and separate storage areas for each unit. Each of the Aliso Villas is uniquely designed to afford every resident a distinctive, separate entry with no neighbor living either above or below.

Five models available for viewing have built-in ovens and range; garbage disposals; acoustical ceilings; resilient floor tiles; carpet in the living room, master bedroom, hall and stairs. Fenced patio or sun deck is also included.

Private recreational facilities include a swimming pool, patio and sundeck areas, recreation building, picnic areas, and park. Residents will also be eligible for membership in the three other Mission Viejo recreation centers.

A monthly fee covers membership in the homeowners association, exterior maintenance of the structures, grounds maintenance and recreational facilities.

Aliso Villas were designed by Red Moltz and Associates of Santa Ana, and the models were decorated by Jan Teada Williams. Prices start at $17,955 with no down VA and low FHA financing.

Aliso Villas' Reservations Prompt New Unit Opening

More than 170 reservations have been taken for Aliso Villas townhomes at Mission Viejo, according to Bill Kent, sales manager.

"The $10 million, 424-townhome neighborhood opened in May. Response has been so great that we are now taking reservations on the second unit of 140 townhomes which will be ready for occupancy in November," Kent said.

Medical-Dental Building Feted on First Anniversary

The first anniversary of the La Paz Medical-Dental Building was celebrated with an open house in the second-floor, east wing of the facility, which is the last unfinished space available.

Members of the medical pro-pulsion in Orange County and present occupants of the building and their guests attended the informal affair.

The open house followed a day of invitational golf at Mission Viejo Golf Course.

The open house was coordinated by Chuck Collins, Mission Viejo Company property management division.

Eldorado Homes To Open Near-Final Unit

One of the community's longest-running success stories — Eldorado Homes — recently launched its 19th unit.

The popular Eldorado neighborhood has continued to average a safe a day since its initial opening in 1967, reaching a current total of more than 1,400 homes.

Six individual models with a wide array of floor plans and exteriors are offered, with prices starting at $24,995.

The Alcoba model, a three-bedroom, two-bath home, features a large family kitchen and an oversized family room with a service bar.

The four-bedroom, two-bath Chisanta model has a natural brick fireplace in the living room, a large family room, and an inviting covered entryway.

The four-bedroom, two-bath Christiana model has a natural brick fireplace in the living room, a large family room, and an inviting covered entryway. The fourth bedroom may easily be converted into a den or study area with a double-door entry.

The new unit is located near the new Marguerite Recreation Center, Wilderness Glen and Eldorado Park. A number of view sites are still available.

Designed with the youthful buyer in mind, Eldorado Homes are easy to maintain, have plenty of room for a growing family, and large yard areas for outdoor living.

Features include woodburning fireplaces with open hearths, activity rooms that open onto indoor-outdoor kitchens, built-in pantries and sliding pass-through windows for the outside serving bars. Two-car garages with spacious service and storage areas are featured with each model.

The final unit — Unit 20 — of Eldorado Homes is planned for construction in early August.

New Eldorado Salesman Awaits Madrid Home

The appointment of Jerry Wil- son to the sales staff of Eldorado Homes was recently announced by Don Schulz, sales manager of Mission Viejo Company.

Wilson, a resident of Southern California, was formerly with Talbel Realms in Torrance.

The Wilsons — wife, Janice, and daughters, Michele, 7, and Janine, 6 — are presently living in the Deane Homes' neighborhood while waiting completion of their new home in the Madrid neighborhood.

Michele and Janine will both be students at Marguerite M. O'Neill Elementary School in the fall.

Wilson's hobbies are water-skiing and golf. He is looking forward to playing the Mission Viejo course when he is settled in the community.

ART PATRON — Richard O'Neill, president of O'Neill Properties and director of Mission Viejo Company, presents his recent art purchase of early Spanish lithographs to Mission Viejo Inn. The 12 original works have been placed in the dining and office areas of the Inn.
Lakeshore, Lake Park Villas
Construction Starts at Lakes

Construction on Mission Viejo Company's final two projects at The Lakes is underway. Lakeshore Villas, featuring four plans with distinctive exteriors as well as interior designs, will be located along the southern shoreline of the westlake. Lake Park Villas will be located just south of the Lakeshore units.

Lakeshore Villas' unique designs will incorporate extensive use of clerestory windows and glass, with high cathedral ceilings for dramatic use of light and space. Both one and two-story plans will be available, in two and three-bedroom homes with two or 2½ baths.

The Casciari (Plan 4) offers a second-floor master bedroom, a sunroom and spacious formal living room with two-story ceiling. The master suite, located on the first floor, will afford the privacy of an individual living area. The second story features a large finished bonus room for pool table, hobby or game room, or the addition of two more bedrooms. The children's or guest bedrooms are located adjacent to the bonus room.

The home's dramatic free-standing staircase has an upstairs landing that creates an "observation area" on the living room below.

Barnett Scores Again

As Lakes' Top Salesman

C. Dean Barnett, recently appointed to the sales staff of Lake View Homes, became Mission Viejo Company's top salesman for the month at The Lakes for the second time with his six net home sales for that project. His sales resulted in a net sales figure of $273,965 for the month.

Barnett was top salesman last month for his 10.5 net sales at Lake Village Garden Homes. He and his family live in Scottsdale, Arizona.

SALES POINT — Prospective homeowners at The Lakes are given a few points of interest by Denny Rierson, salesman for Mission Viejo Company's second Lakes project, which were recently opened.

Lakes Adds to Staff
With Magura, Rierson

Two new members were recently added to the sales staff for Lake View Homes at The Lakes.

Jack Magura and Denny Rierson will handle sales for Mission Viejo Company's second project at The Lakes' site.

Magura was formerly sales manager for Universal Homes in Phoenix, and has lived in Phoenix with his family for three years. He recently purchased a Lake View home and will be one of the first occupants in this neighborhood.

Rierson, formerly in the property management division of Coldwell, Banker and Company, Phoenix, and mortgage loan officer for H. S. Pickrell and Company, is a graduate of the University of Arizona. He has resided in Arizona for seven years, having moved from Iowa.

Both new staff members are avid tennis, golf and skiing enthusiasts.

Sales of Lake View Homes were started last month, with opening of the model complex on June 19.

THE LAKES' FIRST FAMILY — John Benton, salesman for Mission Viejo Company's Lake Village Garden Homes, gives the "key to the community's first home" to Kaerin Sudmalis, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Laimons Sudmalis (in background) with son Erik. The Sudmalis family will occupy their home early next month, becoming The Lakes' "first family."

The first family to move into Mission Viejo Company's first project at The Lakes will be occupying their new Lake Village Garden home on August 1.

Capt. Sudmalis, who is stationed at Williams Air Force Base, is an instructor in F-5 jet fighters. He was recently transferred from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Tucson, where he served following duty at Vance Air Force Base, Enid, Oklahoma.

He also recently returned from a tour of duty in South East Asia.

"The family presently owns a home in Phoenix, which they are selling, as felt The Lakes had "so much more to offer."

"Everything else was so bland and 'tacky,'" said Mrs. Sudmalis.

"We had been looking for a home, and someone suggested The Lakes. When we saw the Lake Village Garden Homes, we knew they had everything. We like the whole house — the quality of it ... its features, and its totally workable plan of design."

The first homeowners chose the Plan 3 (the Montevideo) with two bedrooms and a den, which they are converting into their third bedroom.

"The community is away from the city ... its concrete and congestion," Capt. Sudmalis added.

"And I know it will be an excellent investment."

The yard, Mrs. Sudmalis feels, is "just the right size." She enjoys gardening, and hopes to build a greenhouse in the patio area of their new home.

Having been a surgical technician, Mrs. Sudmalis plans on continuing with her education at nearby Arizona State University, to complete her studies toward her degree in nursing. She formerly attended Phoenix College, as Phoenix is her home.

Capt. Sudmalis was born in Latvia, but raised in Illinois. He is an avid handball, tennis and skiing enthusiast, and the family plans to take trips to Flagstaff and Denver to ski.

Kaerin will be entering kindergarten at Evans School, and Erik will be in day care while his mother attends college.

Mission Viejo welcomes the Sudmalis family. The new Lakes community has now begun.

One of California's most unique family attractions is located within the Mission Viejo community.

Old MacDonald's Farm, which moved to Mission Viejo country in 1969, and is now looking to its third year in this locale, offers an interesting and amusing insight into the animal world. Performing animals, a children's petting zoo, mule rides and old-fashioned mule-driven merry-go-round are unusual facets of entertainment offered the young people who visit the Farm.

Trained chickens can play the piano and baby pigs spend their spare time going down a slide. There's a goat that butts a farmer in cleverly contrived stuffed dummy just for kicks, and a former circus animal — "Judge," the world's largest Appaloosa mule, that does more tricks than his owners know about and continues to surprise them with new ones.

"Scotty," a rare 1800-pound Scottish Highland steer, with horns that span more than 57 inches, and "Jay Silverhills," a Shetland pony with the markings of an Appaloosa, greet the countless visitors that pass through the barnyard. A large Brahma bull, "Sanchez," also adds to the intriguing collection of animal oddities.

Geese and ducks, sheep and goats stroll in the petting zoo, so children can chat with them, feed them during meal time and study the ways of these friendly creatures by close observation and close relationships.

Birds, chickens and rabbits are also part of the barnyard scene, for the complete spectrum of a Farm life. There are wooden horses and wagons, swings made from remnants of the Old West and other enticements to entertain the youngsters.
And one is never too old to enjoy life on the Farm. While the children have their whirl on the merry-go-round, and male or pony rides, their parents can browse through the fascinating Country Store, laden with vintage candy, early American quilts, gift items and cosmetics.

Another innovation at the Farm, which has been a very successful feature, are the children's birthday parties. The "birthday child" can choose his own setting..."The Sea of Enchantment," with its mermaids and underwater scenes enhancing the walls as a charming setting for a young lady's celebration; "The Pilata Room," reflecting the color and excitement of Mexico; and "The Jungle Room," for adventurous young men who enjoy the excitement of wild animals in a tropical setting.

"The Western Party Room," is an authentic chuck wagon from early Rancho Mission Viejo, "chuck-full" of rustic ranch and Western decor.

Old MacDonald's parties include all the goodies, party favors and rides for the host or hostess and his or her guests. Fulton Shaw, founder and owner of Old MacDonald's Farm, has inspired this world of fun, farm life and unusual entertainment for the community, and for all visitors, from near and far, to share.

Open daily, except Mondays, the Farm offers a picturesque setting for an outdoor family picnic, with snacks and refreshments available throughout the day. Family barbecues are planned for weekends, throughout the summer.

For visiting information or party planning, call Old MacDonald's Farm office — 831-1880 or 495-4333.

Circle your maps, circle your calendars, and plan on a pleasant Summer day at the Farm in Mission Viejo.

Mission Viejo High School
Honors Memory of Students

Mission Viejo High School's memorial, to students who have passed on since September, 1966, when the school first opened, was recently dedicated on the school campus.

The project was organized by the 1970-71 Student Council, with the direction of Keith Sims, Coordinator of Student Activities, Mission Viejo High School.

Don Martin, history instructor and coach, served as advisor and assisted with organizing the memorial.

With the cooperation and contributions of the following firms, the memorial became a reality in honor of the eleven students who have died.

Santa Fe Railroad donated the boulder from a site south of La Paz Road. Mission Viejo Company assisted with the placement of the memorial by offering the use of a crane and heavy equipment. The plaque was furnished at cost by Pacific View Memorial Park, Irvine; and plants were given at cost by Rossmoor Leisure World.

Donna Connally, a graduating senior, wrote the inscription on the plaque which was selected by the student council.

New Life to Begin
For 'Speck' the Iguana

"Speck" was little more than that when he was found in a pet store by Caryn and Wayne Nowa, and made a member of this Mission Viejo family. That was five years ago, and now "Speck" is a 4½-foot pet iguana, and ready to move to his new home at San Diego Zoo.

"The house will be a little too small," said Caryn, "but puppy chow is his favorite dish.

According to Wayne, this little descendant of prehistoric reptiles, sleeps on his desk and wanders freely about their La Paz home. He is completely "housetrained," and a very placid pet.

"Speck" is very gentle, and the only time he reacts to any irritation is when she is vacuuming, "he'll hit with his tail.

"Speck" is expected to grow to approximately six feet, but he will be doing his expanding in the posh Iguana Pit at San Diego Zoo. His new facilities will include a steam-heated pond and an extensive area to explore.

Wayne, 31, a senior student at Vanguard College, was a member of the school’s basketball team, and "loves sports.

His sister, 13, will be attending Mission Viejo High School as a freshman this Fall. When asked how the family will feel about the absence of "Speck," they expressed the hope that he will readily adjust to his new life. "When we left him with relatives once before, he wouldn’t eat. He’s just used to our family.

The Nowa family will be doing his expanding in the downstairs game room of their attractive home.

"Speck" will be making his new home on San Diego Zoo, following five happy years with the Nowas in Mission Viejo.
