Community pride reflected in Rose Parade entry

Mission Viejo’s community pride goes on display before the entire nation Jan. 1 with a float entry, for the first time ever, in the prestigious Tournament of Roses. The float, carrying the theme “A Dream Come True,” is being entered by the Mission Viejo Activities Committee in competition against 60 other entries.

Financed by the Mission Viejo Company, the 50-by-18-foot float is presently in its final construction stages and is being prepared for its national television debut by members of the committee and Mission Viejo High School students.

A Spanish block wall, covered by an enormous canopy of chrysanthemums and carnations, are the float’s distinguishing features, along with Mission Viejo-style lamp posts and large hanging baskets, all in a floral design.

“I think we have a real prize winner here,” predicts Barbara Evans, owner of Artistry and Flowers, who was hired as a floral consultant for the vast project. “It falls right into the category of the Pioneer Trophy because it depicts early California.”

“A DREAM COME TRUE” — Mission Viejo’s Rose Parade entry.

Mission Viejo Co. rolls into Cypress

Mission Viejo Company rolled out the good times for skating enthusiasts in Cypress last month by opening a new $750,000 roller skating facility at Ball Road and Coachella Avenue.

Providing ample space for about 1,200 skaters, Cypress Skateway duplicates many of the attractions found at Mission Viejo’s own skateway, including a noiseless epoxy-coated skating floor, snack bar facilities, locker rooms, a pro shop, amusement games, and a separate room for birthday parties.

“The concept of commercially-oriented recreation, as pioneered by us in Mission Viejo, was so successful that we decided to venture out into other communities, as well as into other forms of recreation,” Mission Viejo Company’s director of commercial recreation Jerry Curran said about the new operation.

Cypress Skateway features carpeting throughout including the interior walls, and bold striping in mustard, brown and orange colors on the building’s exterior.

“Cypress Skateway is the newest and most advanced rink in Southern California,” said Curran, “with an entirely different atmosphere than old-style rinks. Parents are particularly impressed with the supervision that the youngsters receive and our dress code. It’s a great place to send the kids for clean, wholesome recreation.”

The new facility is managed in behalf of Mission Viejo Company by Bill Chain and is staffed by experienced instructors and rink supervisors.

Retired persons needed for Tax-Aide program here

Thousands of senior citizens throughout the nation receive free assistance in preparing their income tax returns each year through Tax-Aide, a program sponsored by the American Association of Retired Persons, the National Retired Teachers Association and the Internal Revenue Service.

Through the program, retired persons are trained by the IRS in preparing income tax statements, and in turn, use these skills to assist their peers with the annual task.

For the past several years this service has been available in some Saddleback Valley communities. South Laguna resident Tullio Rizzo is hoping to initiate a Tax-Aide program in Mission Viejo.

As Tax-Aide coordinator for the South Orange County American Association of Retired Persons, Rizzo is seeking volunteers to participate in the program.

The training program consists of three, eight-hour sessions held on Saturdays, noted Rizzo. After completing their training, the participants volunteer three hours of their time each week at a local Tax-Aide center between mid-February and April 15.

“There is no money involved in the program. Participants donate their time, including the people from the IRS,” said Rizzo.

“We have found that there is a definite need for Tax-Aide here,” he continued, especially among elderly people, and widows whose husbands had handled financial matters for them.

According to Rizzo, the IRS training program places special emphasis on questions and tax problems common to retired persons.

Persons interested in participating in the Tax-Aide program are urged to write to Tullio Rizzo, c/o No. Vista de Catalina, South Laguna, 92677, or call 499-1414.

Mission Viejo Activities Committee: building community involvement

For the Mission Viejo Activities Committee, building a float is synonymous with building community involvement: neither is easy but the results are worthwhile.

The 40-some members of the committee, who annually organize Mission Viejo’s “Five Nights of Christmas,” “Mission Viejo Days,” the Fourth of July Celebration, and the “St. Patrick’s Day Parade” have been busy planning for several months to ensure a successful Rose Parade debut for Mission Viejo.

It all began last spring when the committee applied for a float entry — no man task by itself — after having obtained a commitment for financial backing from Mission Viejo Company. From then on they immersed themselves in detailed planning and plain old “brain-storming” to create a design symbolic of their community.
Club brings cheer to orphanage

The Adventure Girls, a group of Mission Viejo camping girls, demonstrated the true spirit of giving this holiday season by participating in a good will mission to an orphanage in Tegucigalpa, Honduras.

The girls participated in a Mission Viejo Company-sponsored anti-litter program to raise money to buy food for “Fundación Para Niños,” an orphanage of 57 children in the border town.

The project was implemented by the group’s leader, Carol Bruno.

“We were looking for a worthwhile service project—one which would help the community as well as be meaningful for the children,” said Mrs. Bruno.

“I knew that KWIZ-Radio sponsored an annual philanthropic caravan to the orphanage, and when I read in the Reporter about the anti-litter campaigns sponsored by Mission Viejo Company, I knew we had a natural.”

So Mrs. Bruno contacted Vicki Nichols in Mission Viejo Company’s Community Service department, who scheduled the youth group for the semi-monthly anti-litter campaign. The girls raised $75 by picking up litter around the community.

They used the donation to buy non-perishable food items to deliver to the Mexican orphanage.

The nine fourth-grade members of the Adventure Girls had their work cut out for them, but they received help in the anti-litter campaign from their families.

All of the girls and several mothers are going to pick up the caravans as it passes Mission Viejo, said Mrs. Bruno. “We want to deliver our goods personally. I think the experience will make this Christmas much more meaningful for the children.

The annual Christmas-time food drive is sponsored by KWIZ as an aid to the Baja Children’s Foundation, a philanthropic corporation that is the major means of support for the orphanage.

According to Andrew J. DiMarco, Santa Ana attorney and founder of the Baja Children’s Foundation, the Fundación Para Niños is run by one woman and her teen-aged assistant. “There are 57 children at the orphanage. They receive no support from religious groups or the Mexican government,” he said. DiMarco formed the foundation after learning of the “hundreds of thousands of orphaned and abandoned children in Mexico.”

Through the food drive “tongs” of non-perishable food items are hauled down to the Tegucigalpa orphanage, located 26 miles east of Tijuana, said DiMarco.

BON VOYAGE—Sixteen Casta del Sol couples embark upon a luxurious, week-long cruise Nov. 29 which will take them to the exotic Mexican Riviera. Mr. and Mrs. John Potratz, left, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Campbell joined each other at the Casta del Sol recreation center to share a bon voyage toast prior to sailing aboard Princess Cruises’ “Pacific Princess.”

Feasts of call include Puerto Vallarta, Manzanillo, Acapulco and Cabo San Lucas.

Eco-Club curriculum planned for new Saddleback program

Dave Coleczine, manager of advanced planning for Mission Viejo Company, was one of a 32-member advisory committee who met with Saddleback College administrators to formulate initial efforts for a core module curriculum that is planned for new Saddleback College.

The college now offers four environmental studies courses and collateral classes in related disciplines. Ideas for future coursework were exchanged at the meeting.

Early designs for the program are to develop a full curriculum for high school students, laypersons, and local agency personnel, and to set up internships with employers to deliver course work that may be transferred to four-year institutions.

Barcelona Hills School to be occupied in January

Students at Barcelona Hills School will receive a $1.2 million Christmas present this year—a brand-new campus they can call their own.

The new facility is crowded with classrooms, administrative units, food service facilities, restrooms, and offices for nurses and speech therapists.

Later, when enrollment increases, demand expansion of the existing facilities, portable classrooms will be added to the complex, according to Deputy Superintendent Truman Benedict.

The new school follows the Capistrano Unified District’s philosophy of building small, but expandable schools rather than large campuses that might not be fully utilized for years after completion.

“The need for new classrooms occurs between the 20 to 40 years the community will take on a different demographic nature.”

Local Companeros 4-H Club— “making the best better”

Head, Hands, Heart and Health—are the concerns of an active group of youngsters known as the Companeros 4-H Club who are striving toward their motto, “To Make the Best Better.”

Numbering 32, the Companeros (Spanish for Friends) meet once a month to learn new skills and crafts under the guidance of community leaders Karen and Don Speikerman.

The Companeros, comprised of 9–19-year-olds from Mission Viejo, Laguna Hills and El Toro, are currently learning about leathercraft, macrame, cooking and sewing and hunting safety.

However, the most popular interest areas involve animals. Mrs. Speikerman reports. The Companeros are learning how to ride and maintain horses, how to raise sheep, and about the raising of rabbits for 4-H Club exhibitions.

“We don’t have a hog or a beef group because there’s no place to keep them. It would be a little difficult to keep a cow in your backyard in Mission Viejo,” Mrs. Speikerman chuckled. “But we make up for that by offering some other unusual programs, such as the study of weeds for example.”

“Some kids just like to learn about weeds. My daughter became interested in what weeds were growing in our backyard. So we had the kids identifying the different weeds and learning which were harmful and which were edible.”

The Companeros regularly exhibit their new-learned skills at the 4-H Food Fiesta, the 4-H Fair, Demonstration Day and at the Orange County Fair.

“4-H is not a babysitting service. We offer a great variety of excellent programs and our members are expected to take an active part in them,” Mrs. Speikerman says. “Membership in the Companeros is open to kids from elementary school through high school.”

The Companeros meet at 7:30 p.m. on the second Wednesday of the month in Room L-12 at Los Alisos Intermediate School. For membership information call the Orange County 4-H office, 774-7120.

Concerts slated

The Mission Viejo High School orchestra and combined choirs will present selections from the Messiah on Wednesday, Dec. 15 at 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend and there is no admission charge.

One week earlier, on Dec. 9 the school’s choir will present a Holiday Concert at Laguna Hills Mall, from 8 to 8:45 p.m. Christmas and Hanukkah music will be included.

There will be fewer children and the housing needs will diminish,” Benedict pointed out. “When that happens we will remove the portables that we added during the period of peak enrollment growth.”

Barcelona Hills School, named for the neighborhood from which most of its students will come, features an exterior treatment of wood and shingles to provide an attractive complement to nearby homes.

Its long-awaited opening will provide the students with a facility nearer their homes while at the same time relieving the crowded conditions at Castille School.

Workmen are now applying the finishing touches to the new campus in preparation for the moving of furniture and equipment from Castille to Barcelona Hills School during the holiday hiatus.
Residents will be celebrating the yuletide season this year in traditional Mission Viejo style as the Mission Viejo Activities Committee stages the 10th annual Five Nights of Christmas.

Christmas festivities will begin Sunday, Nov. 28, at 6:30 p.m. at the corner of La Paz and Chrisanta with the lighting of the community Christmas tree. Santa Claus' long-awaited arrival will be heralded by a spectacular burst of fireworks immediately following the tree lighting ceremony.

Santa will be on hand again as grand marshal of "Santa's Mini-Parade," Dec. 5, the Second Night of Christmas. The procession will also include bands and Christmas floats.

The parade will begin at 3 p.m. at the corner of La Paz and Chrisanta. The route will run south on Chrisanta Drive to Estancia Drive, then east on Estancia Drive, ending at El Picador Lane.

Santa's Workshop will open that evening at 6:30 at the corner of La Paz and Chrisanta, where Santa and his helpers will be available to visit with all the little boys and girls until 8 p.m.

A live Manger Scene, caroling by the Mission Viejo High School Choir, and coffee and hot chocolate will highlight the Third Night of Christmas, Dec. 19. The pageant will begin at 7 p.m. in the mini-park adjacent to the corner of La Paz and Chrisanta.

The lighting of luminaria candles, a Spanish tradition of the Southwestern United States symbolic of the fires that lit the way for shepherds as they jour-neyed to Bethlehem, is also a popular tradition in Mission Viejo. Many residents will light lanterns made of candles, paper bags and sand, and place them in front of their homes on Christmas Eve, the Fourth Night of Christmas.

The Fifth Night of Christmas and the holiday season finale will feature a gala New Year's Eve dance, sponsored by the Mission Viejo Recreation Centers. Revelers will ring in the new year to the tunes of "Swiftkick" at Montanoso Recreation Center. The affair is open to the public and will begin at 9 p.m. Tickets, $15 per couple, are available at Montanoso Recreation Center after Dec. 1. Hats and noisemakers will be furnished and drinks will be served for 75 cents throughout the evening. Dress is casual to cocktail.
Deck the walls

"Now is the time to put your creative minds to work on your outdoor Christmas decorating plans," stated Ed Parker, chairman of the Mission Viejo Christmas Lighting and Decorating Contest. Supported by the Mission Viejo Beautiful Committee, the 1976 contest is scheduled somewhat differently than in the past. There are no individual categories, and residents are not obligated to submit an official entry to be eligible for judging. All decorated homes in Mission Viejo will be judged.

Five groups of judges in teams of two will be designated one of five residential areas. All homes will be pre-judged between Dec. 16 and 20. On Dec. 21 a judging meeting will be held. Judges from each area will pre-vote their list of decorated homes for final judging on Dec. 22 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Individual prizes will be awarded as follows: First Place, $150; Second Place, $100; Third Place, $75; Fourth Place, $50. Winners will also receive a 3 x 7 framed color photograph of their winning decorated home. Various homes will also participate as nominees for entertainment.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Ed Parker, 586-8068.

Romeo, Romeo

South Coast Repertory has announced the start of its expanded year-long Evening Conservatory program for persons 17 and older who are interested in pursuing acting as a career.

To be held at the SCR theatre, 1827 Newport Blvd., Costa Mesa, the EC offers professional acting training during four 7-week modules or sessions, offered throughout the year. The next module begins Jan. 10. Classes are held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening from 7:30-10 p.m.

Unlike SCR's past adult programs, this evening conservatory features more acting courses and a modular concept of training whereby students are provided more progressively challenging acting assignments as they advance from one module to another, according to conservative director Lee Shallat. Students may enroll in one, two or all three courses, she adds.

The director further notes that the EC features a special counseling service at no extra charge to help students select courses most suitable to them and to explain how a complete year of solid acting training can be acquired by just taking two courses in each of the four modules.

To receive a brochure with complete information on this program interested persons may call the SCR administrative offices, (714) 646-3252.

Oh, what fun...

David Shadle prepares for the Children's Christmas Party and gift exchange at Montanoso Recreation Center, Saturday, Dec. 18, 10:30 a.m. until noon.

Mission Viejo recreation center members under 12 and their guests are invited. Admission is a wrapped gift (50-cent limit) and 25 cents for refreshments.

Festivities include showing of a Disney cartoon, "The Night Before Christmas" with Donald Duck, and a Mickey Mouse and Pluto feature. The party will be climax by a visit by St. Nick himself.

Chilly camping

Yosemite, a winter wonderland decked in white, will be the site of a five-day camping trip, Dec. 26-30, organized by the Mission Viejo Recreation Centers and open to the public.

Camp will be set up in Yosemite Valley under the supervision of John Snyder, trip guide. Day trips to Dewey Point and Glacier Point are planned, along with cross country skiing to Crane Flat.

Prior to the trip, on Dec. 15, Snyder will hold a seminar, covering cross country skiing and winter camping. Skis will be available for rent.

Cost is $20 per person. Sign ups begin Dec. 1. For more information contact Montanoso Recreation Center.

Sing out

The Mission Viejo High School performing arts department will present a number of holiday programs during December.

The chorus and concert choir will perform a Christmas concert at Miners' Village, located at Margarite Parkway and La Paz Road, Dec. 11 from 1 to 3 p.m.

Singing doors

"Twinkling lights and jingling bells Begin to thrill the air.
With hope...more than they dare.

Every door swings wide—
Throughout Viejo-land—
To welcome in a warm yule-tide...it's CHRISTMAS! And it's grand!"

A grand welcome is extended by members of the Mission Viejo Beautiful Committee to the Fourth Annual "Fiesta de Hacienda" Holiday Home Tour, Sunday, Dec. 5. Six local homeowners will welcome visitors to their outstanding homes from 6 to 9 p.m.

All of the tour home selections, including the home of Ron and Bonnie Loebke above, reflect individual lifestyles and originality in decorating design. Christmas decorating is blended throughout each home depicting the homeowners holiday mood and ideas.

A reception will be held immediately following the tour at the Casta del Sol Recreation Center. Refreshments will be served in a no-host bar. Home tour tickets of $2.50 per person over 12 years of age may be purchased from Mission Viejo Beautiful Committee members, as well as various sponsoring organizations: including Montanoso Recreation Center, Deane Swim and Racquet Club, Casta del Sol Recreation Center, Mission Viejo Botanics Garden Club, Rancho Viejo Jr. Women's Club. As in the past, children will not be admitted to the tour. All proceeds from the ticket sale proceeds are allocated to sponsor the Mission Viejo Beautiful Committee monthly landscape awards and community beautification projects.

Dough boy

Chef Henry Rekken of Mission Viejo Country Club makes cookies for the inn's Christmas candy tree. Beginning Dec. 1, patrons will be invited to sample the tree with the club's compliments.

The witch sings

Hansel and Gretel will unknowingly wander down the Witch Way when Orange Coast College's Five Penny Opera Company presents "Hansel & Gretel," Dec. 9-11 and 16-18 at 8 p.m. in the OCC Auditorium.

Tickets for the fully staged and fully costumed opera are available for $1.50 per seat by mail. Send a check and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Hansel and Gretel Tickets, Orange Coast College, 7201 Fairview Road, Costa Mesa, 92626. Be sure to specify desired day.

According to the Five Penny Opera Company president the opera will be enjoyed by children and adults of all ages. Full orchestra will be provided by the OCC Opera Theatre Orchestra.

Happenings:

In and around Mission Viejo

Holiday Haven

The sights and smells of Christmas will surround holiday shoppers at the Muckenthaler Cultural Center's annual Holiday Fair, Dec. 4-24. The center is located at 1201 W. Malvern, Fullerton.

The center itself, a Mediterranean-style two-story mansion situated on eight and one-half acres of landscaping, adds to the festive atmosphere.

The Holiday Fair features a captivating array of unique gift possibilities, including stained glass, gold and silver ceramics, children's toys and enamel ware.

Dozens of California artists have spent many hours to produce these unusual items that will help you celebrate the age-old custom of exchanging hand-made gifts.

The Muckenthaler Center sponsors cultural programs throughout the year, including theatrical presentations, musicals, art shows and classes.

Joint Nadadores

New coach ‘on deck’ with Schubert

The Mission Viejo Nadadores swim team has become internationally known for its annual California Outdoor Three-Wall Singles Racquetball Championships. The event is open to all recreation center members, aged 14 and under, throughout Southern California. The entry fee is $10 and deadline for filing entries is Nov. 20. The tournament will consist of a first round and a consolation round.

Nadadores excel

Brian Goodell, Margaret Brownie and Valerie Lee, three members of the Mission Viejo Nadadores, competed recently in the 1976 Masters National Championships in Maldonado, Uruguay. Goodell took first in the 200-meter freestyle, clocking 1:57.81 over National-isl China’s Bill Chao. Goodell was also second in the 200-meter butterfly, covering the distance in 2:14.19. Valerie Lee placed first in the women’s 400-meter freestyle in 4:34.75 and second in the 100-meter butterfly.

OCC hosts racquetball tourney

Orange Coast College will host the fourth annual California Outdoor Three-Wall Singles Racquetball Championships Dec. 4-5 on OCC’s 13 outdoor courts in Costa Mesa. The entry fee is $10 and deadline for filing entries is Nov. 20. The tourney will consist of competition in six different categories.

When assistant coach Brad Glenn left the Nadadores to become head coach of another swim team, Schubert set his sights on finding the best, and hired new assistant senior coach, John Mason. "I knew John from the mid-west (Schubert hails from Ohio), and he spent some time out there last spring observing our program and others in the area. At the same time he expressed an interest in coming out here to coach," said Schubert. "When we had to replace Glenn, John immediately came to mind."

Mason, a nine-year coaching veteran from South Michigan, comes to Mission Viejo with a reputation which could rival Schubert’s.

"He has a reputation of bringing swimmers up to national competition level, and a long and outstanding record with masters swimmers (25 years old and older)," said Schubert. It only seems natural that Mason took over coaching of the Nadadores Masters program, in addition to his duties as assistant senior coach. The 15 members of the Nadadores Masters program are under Mason’s direction. Mason previously coached two-time national Masters champion Tom Koeing, whose most recent victory was the National Masters meet in St. Louis.

According to Mason, "The most important aspect of the Masters program is keeping in shape and keeping healthy. The competition aspect gives people added incentive, but first and foremost is physical fitness."

Mason works individually with Masters swimmers, helping each to achieve a level of training which suits them personally.

"We have Masters swimmers of all ages and abilities," he states. "Some train as many as two miles a day, and others swim one-fourth of a mile a day. We divide all our Masters to set their own paces."

Mason is "on deck" with his Masters swimmers from 7:30 to 9 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays at Montanoso Recreation Center. If you are 25 years old or older and are interested in maintaining your health and figure, call the swim office at Marguerite Recreation Center, or come to practice. Monthly fees for the Masters program are $8 for recreation center members and $12 for non-members.

New fitness center opens at Marguerite Recreation Center

Mission Viejo Recreation Center announced the opening of the new Marguerite Fitness Center, according to Dan Bemoll, general manager of community recreation for Mission Viejo Company.

"The new complex will incorporate new and remodeled facilities and exercise equipment into the present health and fitness center," said Bemoll, "and additional professional personal staff will augment the recreation center’s health program."

The existing handball and racquetball courts have been refurbished. The new courts are presently in the design stage. Construction should begin within the next few months, according to Bemoll.

"By changing to an association system, members will be guaranteed a cleaner facility conducive to pursuing year-round health activities. I’m sure the new facilities will be appreciated by all participating members," said Bemoll.

For recreation center members who do not desire to join the associations, a new wet/dry room is being set up at Montanoso Recreation Center. This facility is expected to be open for use about Dec. 1.

Racquetball tourney

Mission Viejo Junior Tennis teams were undefeated in league play as of mid-November. “If we can maintain this momentum through mid-December, we’ll have the championship in the bag,” according to Norm Williams, Mission Viejo tennis director.

Competing in the South Orange County Junior League, Mission Viejo has already defeated such teams as Laguna Niguel, Capistrano Racquet Club and San Clemente Tennis Club.

All recreation center members, aged 14 and under, may join the junior tennis program. Sign-ups for the spring season begin Feb. 1, 1977.

According to Dick Gude, program director, the popularity of the Mission Viejo tennis program is growing, pace with the nationwide tennis boom. “Junior tennis’ enrollment has reached a record high of 62 varsity players and 15 junior varsity team members,” he said.
