Drought increases snake migration

The Great Drought of '77 has created additional concern for Orange County Animal Control officials.

Rattlesnake migration to residential areas is expected to be "especially bad this year due to the dryness," reports animal control officer Dick Robillard.

The most important things to remember should you happen upon a rattlesnake in your yard, according to Robillard, are: to remain calm; to notify the Department of Animal Control immediately; and to keep the snake under observation from a safe distance (no less than five feet) until help arrives.

Rattlesnakes are not aggressive. It is not their nature to seek out human prey. In fact, they will attempt to escape when given the opportunity, and could be provoked to strike, out of fear. This is why we advise people to leave rattlesnakes alone and notify us immediately," explained the officer.

Residents whose property adjoins undeveloped areas should always be "snake-conscious," especially this year, said Robillard.

There are several steps homeowners can take to discourage the vipers from venturing onto their properties in search of water, food or shelter:

- Keep lawns and fields closely mowed. Snakes are attracted to weeds, brush and tall grass.
- Since snakes cannot survive on hot, bare ground, remove trash, lumbar, brush and rock piles — anything that might afford shade or hiding places for them. Store building materials two to three feet off the ground.
- Rodents are the primary food of rattlesnakes. Clean premises will discourage both rodents and snakes.
- In addition, parents should warn children not to handle or toy with snakes even if they think they know what they’re doing, but to call an adult immediately.

Rattlesnake calls are considered a priority item, and response time is estimated at 15 to 20 minutes, according to Robillard.

Residents can phone 634-7301 for 24-hour emergency service.

Mission Viejo MED homes cited for conservation

Nearly 20 percent of all energy consumed in the U.S. each year is used in the nation’s 70 million households, but much of it is wasted through inefficient appliances and houses, according to the federal Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA).

Although consumers can take a number of immediate steps toward energy conservation (such as setting back thermostats in winter), long-term energy savings will not be realized unless energy efficiency is built into the entire range of products and materials we use every day.

ERDA is supporting studies now on household energy savers as part of its job to find alternative energy sources and to seek ways of using present fuels more efficiently.

Among these studies is the five-year research project currently under way in Mission Viejo. Sponsors of the project — Mission Viejo Company, ERDA, and Southern California Gas Company — have incorporated a variety of energy-saving features into two Mission Viejo test homes called Minimum Energy Dwellings (MED).

A goal of the project is to encourage the home building industry to follow suit in the use of many of these elements, MED conservation features are expected to reduce energy consumption by at least 50 percent.

The features include double-pane windows with adjustable shutters between panes to shield the inside of the house from the sun; thicker and better insulated walls and ceilings; gas appliances which have pilotless ignition systems; air circulation systems which sense inside and outside temperatures and humidity and pull in cool outside air while filtering out the hot air out of the home when necessary; solar-assisted equipment for heating, cooling and hot water; and common sense building methods and landscaping to help make the house warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

The incorporation of features such as these, suggests ERDA, is a significant approach to energy conservation for the home building industry while further research is conducted in the quest for the ultimate in energy-saving products.
Mission Viejo Activities Committee members have a lot more brewing this Fourth of July than the traditional graduation ceremonies and summer vacation getaways. Plans are well under way for the eighth annual Fourth of July Community Picnic at Mission Viejo Country Club. The picnic will begin at 1 p.m., with entertainment beginning at 3 p.m.

Concessions will be offered by local service organizations. In addition, Independence Day celebrators are welcome to bring their own picnic dinners.

“They are to include: Hot dogs, snow cones, peanuts, popcorn, beer, candied apples, Pepsi, pretzels and balloons,” said Peter Franzen, picnic chairman.

The highlight of every Fourth of July celebration, a spectacular fireworks display, will light up the sky at 8:45 p.m., lasting for about 30 minutes.

“As in all our seasonal events,” added Williamson, “we have made special efforts to provide a good time for all. So to insure safety and enjoyment for everyone, we ask that no fireworks or portable barbeques be brought to the picnic grounds.”

TUNESMITH — Bill Baker's Tunesmith will provide dance music at the Fourth of July Community Picnic at Mission Viejo Country Club. The picnic will begin at 1 p.m., with entertainment beginning at 3 p.m.

Memorial trophy told

John Scalli, president of the Casa del Sol Men's Golf Club, has announced the establishment of an award to honor the memory of Harry Elink-Schuurman, who was a charter member and first handicap committee chairman of the club.

The Harry Elink-Schuurman Memorial Award will be made to the member who has shown the greatest improvement in his golf score over the entire year.
Spin a yarn
Youngsters aged 17 and under are invited to enter the Youth Literary Competition to be held at the Orange County Summer Fair, scheduled for July 15 through 24. The fair offers an exciting opportunity for young writers and illustrators to receive recognition for their work. Three categories will be open: writing, writing and illustrating by one person; and writing and illustrating by a team of two or more people.

A trophy will be awarded to the winner in each category, and first, second and third place ribbons will be given in each age group. Citizen Bank of Costa Mesa will award a special prize — a $25 bond.

Entries must be submitted or 8 1/2 x 11 inch paper, clearly written or typed, and double spaced. Names and ages of all who contributed to the entry must be included. Classes of age group are 10 and 11, 12 and 13, 14 and 15, 16 and 17, eight and nine, six and seven, and five and under. There is no entry fee.

Entries must be mailed or delivered to the fairgrounds, 88 Fair Drive, Costa Mesa 92626, by June 3, 1977. Each entry must be marked “Literary Competition,” and be accompanied by a pink entry form which can be obtained by calling (714) 751-FAIR, or can be picked up at the grounds. Anyone wishing further information should call Mrs. Rosemary Peltier at 960-3389.

Chorale notes
Richard Raub, conductor of the Orange Coast College Chorale, has announced solosists for the chorale’s performance of the Verdi Requiem, scheduled for June 4 in the OCC Auditorium, 2701 Fairview Road, Costa Mesa.

Solosists are: Carol Vaness, soprano; Janet Smith, mezzo-soprano; Alvin Brightbill, tenor; and John Matthews, bass. All four vocalists have had extensive experience on the opera stage and have appeared in concert with orchestras and choral groups.

A large orchestra will join with the solists and chorale in presenting Verdi’s choral masterpiece. There will be no charge for admission.

Innings for outings
Mission Viejo residents are invited to join a raid on Anaheim Stadium, Sunday, June 26, to watch the California Angels meet the Texas Rangers, sponsored by Mission Viejo Recreation Centers.

There’s added fun for kids 15 and under, who will receive a free Angel jersey at the game.

Game time is 1 p.m. The Fun Bus will depart from Montanoso at 11:30 a.m. and return at approximately 5 p.m. Cost is $6 per person for recreation center members and $7 for non-members.

Sign-ups begin June 13 at Montanoso. A second Angels trip is scheduled for Friday, July 1, for the Oakland “A’s” game. Bus leaves Montanoso at 6 p.m. and returns approximately 11 p.m. Prices are identical to June 26 trip.

Sign-ups begin June 13 at Montanoso.

Showtime
“Stop the World, I Want to Get Off” will be presented Thursday, Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays, June 23 through July 16, at the Cabrillo Playhouse, 202 Avenida Cabrillo, San Clemente.

Tony Brandt will be the show director for the San Clemente Community Theatre production.

“Stop the World, I Want to Get Off” is a musical adaptation of the “Seven Ages of Man” by Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse. It features the songs: “What Kind of Fool Am I,” “Gonna Life,” and “Once in a Lifetime.”

For ticket information, call 492-0465.

Buck power
Felipe Bucks. What are they? A special currency reward distributed by recreation center staff members to recognize accomplishments and good deeds at Felipe and Sierra recreation centers.

What do you do with them? Stockpile them. Felipe Bucks will be the only currency recognized at the Felipe Buck Auction, to be held at the Sierra Center around July 9. More details later.

Ole!
Bingo spiced with a south-of-the-border fare will be the order of the evening at Montanoso Recreation Center Friday, June 10. And adult Mission Viejo Recreation Center members and their guests are invited to participate in the festivities of “Bingo Mexicana” beginning at 7 p.m.

A buffet style Mexican dinner will be served. Glasses and ice will be provided for the beverages you bring.

Bingo players will have a chance to win plants, wine, record albums and “mystery gifts,” according to a recreation center spokesman.

Tickets are $4 for members and $5 for non-members. Sign-ups begin May 23 at Montanoso. Reservations will not be accepted after June 8.

Rare treasures
“The Gilbert Collections: Monumental Silver and the Art of Mosaics” will be exhibited to the public through July 10 at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

“This is a totally unique gift to an American museum,” stated museum director Kenneth Dornahue. “There is nothing in the world comparable to the Gilberts’ mosaic collection outside the Hermitage in Leningrad, and the Georgian silver collection is the most important in a private collection in the United States.”

The collections were given to the museum by Beverly Hills collectors Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gilbert.

Curtain raisers
J. B. Priestley’s “An Inspector Calls,” the Saddleback Valley Community Theatre Group’s forthcoming production, will be staged June 16, 17, 18, 23, 24 and 25 at the Mission Viejo High School Little Theatre. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

The play will be directed by Jean Hyde, with performances by Ben Jutzi, Joan Sidell, Susan Cooley, Doug Hartman, Sheryl Ann Scott and Michael Beltrone.

Call 586-8342 for ticket information.

Saddleback Valley celebration
Carn vals, clown contests, games booths and a “Happy Days Bash” are just a few of the attractions that will highlight the first annual Saddleback Valley Days celebration planned June 3, 4 and 5.

The community-wide event, sponsored by the Saddleback Valley Chamber of Commerce, will be held in the parking lot at Laguna Hills Mall.

Activities will begin at 5 p.m. Friday and at 10 a.m. Saturday and Sunday.

A mini-circus with professionally trained animals will get underway Friday night at 6. Three shows are slated for Saturday (1, 3 and 5 p.m.) and two shows on Sunday (12 noon and 3 p.m.).

In addition to the game booths and carnival, special demonstrations by professional skateboarders, the Sweet Adelines and the Rambin Rogers Square Dancing crew will take place.

The “Happy Days Bash” dance begins at 8 p.m. Saturday inside the mall. The dance will feature Bo Diddley, Donnie Brooks and Dave Sebastian. Tickets are $15 per couple.

Further information is available by calling the Chamber of Commerce, 837-3000.

Tunisian exhibit
“Tunisian Mosaics: Carthage in the Roman Era,” an exhibit receiving national exposure through the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Service, will be on display to the public June 5 through August 14 at Bowers Museum, 2002 N. Main St., Santa Ana.

The priceless collection, on loan to the United States by the Tunisian government, was especially developed to commemorate the Bicentennial. It has been prepared by Tunisia’s National Institute of Art and Archaeology from the extensive collection of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gilbert, Tunisia’s National Museum.

This will be the only California showing of the collection of 19 mosaics.

Museum hours are: Tuesday through Saturday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Wednesday and Thursday evenings, 7-10, and Sunday, 1-5 p.m. Admission is free.

Campy
Sign-ups have begun for three camp sessions offered for junior high and high school youths by the Saddleback Valley YMCA.

The line-up of events includes a five-day session at Camp Fox on Catalina Island for seventh through 10th graders; a week-long caravan to Yosemite for those in grades nine and up.

In addition to these camp sessions, the YMCA announced day camp and mountain camp sessions for this summer.

YMCA camping programs are designed to give each camper the valuable experiences of outdoor living and democratic group process that every child needs.

Further information is available by calling 830-YMCA.

Shore dwellers
The Sierra Recreation Center Sandpipers is a newly formed tribe of unfeathered friends who are out for some good times at the beach this summer.

The boys will be ocean-bound every Wednesday beginning June 22. The Fun Bus departs Sierra Recreation Center at 7:30 a.m., and returns about 2 p.m.

Membership in the Sandpipers is open to all recreation center boys aged 10 and up. Call Jim Van Cott, 831-0050, for more details.
Mission Viejo Company contributes funds

Mission Viejo Company has provided $2,500 in scholarship funds to Saddleback College, the Capistrano Unified Scholarship Fund, and the Saddleback Valley Unified School District, according to the company's community services representative for Mission Viejo Company.

The scholarships are to go to students planning to “pursue their education in a field related to the land development or home building industry,” said Mrs. Ray.

“Their scholarship programs which recognize the contributions of Mission Viejo Company,” said Mrs. Ray. “The scholarship funds will help defray the costs of tuition, books, registration and lab fees.”

Students aided by civic groups

Over $9,000 in scholarships to advance the academic careers of Saddleback College students was accepted this spring by the Saddleback College Board of Trustees.

The donations come from tax-deductible contributions, businesses and individuals throughout the Saddleback Community College District.

“The money was dispersed to Saddleback students at the annual Scholarship and Awards Banquet, Tuesday, May 10,” said Marsha Ray, community services representative for Mission Viejo Company.

Contributing to the scholarship fund were the Aliso Club of Laguna Hills, Sue American Association of University Women (San Clemente), Gertrude C. Baker Memorial Fund, Blue Cross Scholarship, California Home Manufacturers Association—Orange District, California Retired Teachers—Orange County Coast Division, Daily Pilot, Delta Kappa Gamma Society—Theta Theta Chapter Chi State, Saddle Club of Laguna Hills, Laguna Hills Junior-Senior Citizens Center, Laguna Hills Museum of History and Art, and the Los Angeles Register, April 10, 1983.

Over $9,000 in scholarships were awarded to Saddleback College students this spring.

New news angle at Saddleback

Saddleback College has a new news angle. It pulls local reporters from behind their typewriters and puts them in front of a television camera, providing the public with a video view of the printed story.

It’s called “Saddleback Spectrum,” a pilot show that, in the pilot stage, has the potential of offering a weekly news conduit to the community by the time it premieres next fall.

“We’re interested in what’s happening on a particular reporter’s beat,” said Bill Wakefield, director of instructional media at Saddleback.

By involving reporters from our community and metropolitan newspapers, we can get their point of view on a subject and feature a weekly news program based on what’s happening locally.”

The pilot show was taped in April in the college television studio. Invited reporters included George Grey of the Los Angeles Times, and Jack Chappell of the Daily Pilot, Valeria Gray of the Capistrano Register and Thomas Fortune of the Los Angeles Times, and co-hosts Herbert Johns and Joyce Armstrong of the college.

“Saddleback Company is pleased to participate in the various school district’s scholarship programs which recognize educational and vocational ambition,” said Mission Viejo Company.

The scholarships will help defray the costs of tuition, books, registration and lab fees.

Kindergarten registration ‘in session’

Elementary schools within the Capistrano Unified School District have announced they are now accepting kindergarten registration for children who will be eligible for fall classes.

Children are eligible to enroll in kindergarten if their fifth birthday is on or before December 2.

Parents of children who meet the age requirement are urged to register by the kindergarten’s registration office where their child will attend as soon as possible. Parents must bring a document verifying their child’s birth date (birth certificate, baptism certificate duly attested, or passport) when registration takes place.

Prior to entering school, all children must be immunized against polio and measles, and also must have the diptheria, tetanus and whooping cough (DPT) inoculation.

Some schools are scheduling a visit to one of this year’s classes prior to the end of the kindergarten pupil who will be attending in the fall, according to district officials. Officials suggest that parents arrive at the school office in their attendance area to determine the most convenient time of day for registration.

Students honored

Shawn Brooks and Mike Manazar, Mission Viejo High School students, were honored at the annual Scholastic Awards Banquet, Tuesday, May 10.

The awards are being sponsored by the Exchange Club of the Saddleback Valley, the Orange County Fair’s Industrial Arts Committee, the Orange County Fair’s Junior High, High School and Junior College students.

Mission Viejo to host first all-girl swim meet

The first all-female invitational swim meet in Amateur Athletic Union history will take place at Mission Viejo's International Swimming and Diving Complex, announced Frank G. Wolf, publisher of Seventeen Magazine, sponsor of the event.

The meet, to be known as Seventeen's Swim Meet of Champions, will be an annual event and the first competition will be held from June 23 through June 25, 1977.

"Seventeen's Swim Meet of Champions will be one of the major swim meets before the West Basin Meet of Champions," said Mark Schubert, head coach of the National champion Mission Viejo Nadadores swim team. It will be a qualifying meet for the National AAU Senior Swimming Championships, an event which serves as the trials for the American team that will compete in West Berlin.

Mission Viejo resident Guy Bamaico, swimming chairman of the Southern Pacific Association of the AAU and member of the Olympic Committee, will be the meet director.

American female swimmers who hold current AAU registration cards and meet the official standards established by the meet director will be invited to participate in Seventeen's Swim Meet of Champions. Following the official AAU national three-day meet format, there will be 15 events, all calibrated in meter distances, including 12 individual events and three relay events.

The meet high point winner will be presented with a $1,500 scholarship to the college or university of her choice. Plaques will be awarded to the eight finalists in each event and to the first place winners in consolation finals.

About 300 swimmers are expected to participate in the event, with about 40 team coaches also attending. Entry deadline is two weeks prior to the swim meet.

Further information is available by contacting Mark Schubert, P.O. Box 207, Mission Viejo, California 92675.

POOLING THEIR MONEY — Mission Viejo Company contributed $1,000 to the Esperanza School for the Trainable Mentally Retarded pool fund, boosting the collection to within $3,000 of the final goal. Presenting the check to Kelly Corcoran, member of the swimming relay team which placed first in the recent Orange County Special Olympics, is Olympic champion Brian Goodsell, second from left. Also present during the presentation were Ruby Edman, principal of Esperanza School, right, and Martha Ray, community services representative, Mission Viejo Company. Eighty-five community groups and individuals have donated funds to make construction of the facility possible. The pool is expected to be ready for use in the fall.

Esperanza therapeutic pool due to be completed by fall, 1977

Thanks to many generous donations from individuals and civic groups, a much needed and long anticipated therapeutic swimming pool for the Espeanaza School for the Trainable Mentally Retarded is finally becoming a reality.

The pool, which is currently under construction at the Mission Viejo school along with new classroom facilities, is expected to be ready for use by fall of 1977.

Mission Viejo Company was the pool fund's most recent donor, with a contribution of $1,000. "Altogether, 85 different groups or individuals throughout the county have contributed funds to make our dream come true," said Ruby Edman, principal of the school.

In addition, the pool will provide a training facility for students who participate in the annual Orange County Special Olympics for the mentally retarded.

The Esperanza School serves trainable mentally retarded children and adults who live in the Irvine, Laguna Beach, Capistrano and Saddleback Valley unified school districts.

Mission Viejo Nadadores head coach Mark Schubert predicts his swimmers will turn in their usual strong performances when they compete in two major swim meets this month: the Mission Viejo Seniors Meet (June 11-12) and the Fidelity Federal Open (June 17-19).

"These meets will give us an opportunity to test the competition we'll be up against at the Long Course Nationals this August," said Schubert.

Thirty team members will travel to Greenville, South Carolina, to compete in the Fidelity Federal Open. This competition is one of the three national qualifying senior development meets held this summer in the United States leading up to the Long Course National AAU Swimming Championships August 18-21 at Mission Viejo.

The other two qualifying meets are the Mission Viejo Invitational (July 29-31) and the Santa Clara International (July 8-10).

"All of the outstanding international and national swimmers throughout the U.S. and other countries will compete in the Fidelity Federal Open," said Schubert.

The Mission Viejo Seniors meet at Marguerite Recreation Center will determine qualifying times for participation in the three national senior development meets this summer.

Olympians Tim Shaw, Bruce Furniss, Donnalee Wennerstrom and Tana Vandeventer are expected to make their strokes against the national champion Nadadores and other outstanding Southern California swimmers at this meet.

Mission Viejo High School student Randy Huffman is one of 10 Southern California youngsters selected to represent this region of the United States in the 1977 AAU Junior Olympic Basketball National Championships to be held in Frankfort, Kentucky in late June.

The base team for this area is the Monarch Marksmen, a organization which won the very first Junior Olympic national title in 1972, and captured further first place honors in both 1974 and 1975. "With the addition of some of the finest Orange County players, the Monarchs appear to be strong contenders for yet another national championship," said team coach and founder, Russel Boenker.

Randy must raise nearly $500 to cover expenses for the one-week trip, June 20-27. "Mission Viejo Company has agreed to a half sponsorship for Randy," said Mrs. Diane Huffman, "a gesture we greatly appreciate."
