The world's largest electronics plant is to be built in the Mission Viejo area by Autonetics. Construction of a 1,000,000 sq. ft., dramatically stair-stepped building for the Autonetics Division of North American Rockwell Corp. will begin in Laguna Niguel in October.

In making the announcement, Autonetics President S. F. Eyestone said the building will house Autonetics' Data Systems Division, employing some 7500, and is scheduled to be occupied in late 1969.

The majestie Babylonian-style structure will rise in steps up a hillside to a height of seven stories. According to its architect, William L. Periera and Associates, it may be the largest single electronics manufacturing center under one roof.

The plant will be located on a 92-acre site that is part of 1200 acres purchased last fall by North American Rockwell from the Laguna Niguel Corporation and the Moulton Ranch. The site is a mile west of Mission Viejo.

Development of the site and building construction will represent an investment of approximately $60 million.

The building will consist of the main floors for manufacturing, engineering and support operations and a four-story administration tower. Its design is meant to reduce lines of communication for personnel and flow of materials, providing maximum efficiency. Its exterior will be of textured concrete.

The first three floors will total 814,000 sq. ft. and they step down the hillside like offset sections of a layer cake. The first floor alone covers 954,000 sq. ft., or about nine acres. The administration tower will pyramid from the epicenter of the third floor level. A separate 12,000 sq. ft. service building will be located near the main plant.

Impact of the Autonetics facility on the growth of Mission Viejo and other area communities was evidenced in a disclosure by Eyestone that its payroll will approximate $60 million annually.

The additional bonds, if approved, will enable the district to provide adequate water and sanitation facilities until the year 1990, allowing balanced development for re-

Downey Family Signs First For Center

So anxious to take part in our community that they joined two organizations before they moved into their new La Paz Home, a Downey-area family became the first member of our Recreation Center.

"We read the sales agreement to buy a La Paz Home in January," explained James L. Ellis. "Ever since then, I've been bugging the escrow people about joining the recreation center. After Jerry Curran was hired as recreation director, they directed me to him and he said might as well sign a reservation list with us. So when all the legal paperwork was completed to establish the center, and it could sign up members, we were the first."

Ellis, a design engineer for North American Rockwell Corp.'s Ocean Systems Operation in Compton, indicated that he also immediately signed up his two boys, Mark, 5, and Jeff, 3, for swimming lessons, making them the first enrollees in the well-rounded, year-round activities program.

Adding that he also joined the Mission Viejo Golf Club even though his family wasn't scheduled to move in until late June, Ellis said:

"We think it's very important to both the children and to us to get involved in community activities. Of course, we're very enthusiastic about moving to Mission Viejo and that might have something to do with our sign-up. My wife and I have lived in the Downey area a long time and we're anxious to get out of the congestion."

"But beyond that, we think Mission Viejo is the perfect rural area available. It's not just a bunch of houses, like others developments. It isn't only has the recreation center staff includes Jeanne Whitmer, a former airline stewardess, and son Mark, 9; and Kathleen, a former airline stewardess, and son Mark, 9; and youth director Jerry Curran (r.).

FIRST MEMBERS — Mr. and Mrs. James L. Ellis and children, Mark, 5, and Jeff, 3, check out the Rec Center pool with director Jerry Curran (r.).

The Ellises will live just around the corner and up the hill from the center, on Serrena Drive.

"We finally move here in July 20-21 Center To Have Teen Club

Completion of the Recreation Center will facilitate formation of the Mission Viejo Senior High Teen Club.

The club will be governed by a Teen Council, which will organize dances, select bands, and plan numerous special activities.

Dances with live music will be held every Wednesday night during the summer from 7:30 to 11:30, with the first scheduled for July 24.

Dances will be open to all high school students residing in Mission Viejo. Admission will be 50 cents for members and $1.50 for non-members who must prove residence.

Center To Have Teen Club

Details On Fees And Dues

Since the Recreation Center is designed to be a self-supporting facility, its fees and dues have been set at a very nominal rate, enabling many families to take advantage of its facilities.

One-time membership fees are $50 for families and $40 for couples. Monthly dues are $9.

The membership fee can be paid in three monthly installments. A five per cent discount is offered families paying their monthly dues one year in advance.

Residents are encouraged to join before October 1st because on that date, the membership fee will become $100 for families and $75 for couples. New residents, however, can join at the introductory rate up to 90 days after their escrow closes.

Youthful, good-looking Jerry Curran will soon become one of the best-known men in Mission Viejo as his manifold activities as director of recreation for Mission Viejo Company bring him into contact with literally thousands of residents.

Curran regards life as a series of experiences. He feels recreation plays a big part in these experiences and went into the field because it provides an opportunity to create worthwhile experiences for people.

Curran has worked in recreation for the past five years. During that time, he was cited for outstanding service by the city of West Covina for his contributions to teenage programs.

Early this year, actually after accepting an offer to direct our center, he received a plaque from the La Puente Chamber of Commerce for his "outstanding contribution to the community" while super-vising recreation for the Hudson-LaPuente Recreation Department.

Curran has been commuting from West Covina, but this month his La Paz Home will be ready for occupancy and he will be within walking distance to his office in the center.

Moving with him to Mission Viejo will be his wife Kathleen, a former airline stewardess, and son Mark, 9 months. Their second child is "clipped" by a woman, you might visit Sam Meyers' Viejo Barber Shop on Saturdays, who could give them a hair cut and trim men's hair.

Mission Ridge Models Open For Your Inspection

The models for Mission Ridge - the largest, most luxurious homes ever offered in Mission Viejo - are now open for viewing. Announcing the opening, John T. Martin, vice president of marketing and sales for Mission Viejo Company, said:

"Since Mission Ridge was announced earlier this spring, we have sold approximately one-quarter of this limited offering of 43 luxurious homes.

"We think the plain and simple facts are that Mission Ridge homes offer outstanding value in their price range and they are so exciting that those who came to see them were strongly motivated to buy."

Among the exciting design features that Martin cited were: exceptionally spacious one-story plans with more than 2,000 sq. ft. and a two-story plan with nearly 3,100 sq. ft., extensive use of sliding glass doors, orienting most bedrooms to patios and decks; and panoramic views of Mission Viejo Golf Course, Oso Valley and Old Saddleback Mountain.

"But, without a doubt," said Martin, "the most exciting single feature of the homes has been the king-size master suites in Design III, our dramatic two-story model. It has to be one of the most luxurious master suites ever offered in a production house. In addition to the really large bedroom, it has an exciting sitting room with a wall of glass opening onto a sheltered side balcony. This balcony has two additional walls of glass, which look down into the two-story family room and the two-story entry. In some elevations, the bedroom also has a second rear balcony. Completing the suite are a spacious dressing room with wardrobe, an enormous walk-in closet, and a compartmented bath."

Base prices of Mission homes range from $36,950 to $43,950.

The Mission Ridge models are on Montanoso Drive, overlooking the 14th Fairway.

Mission Viejo Salesman Sells $8 Million Of La Paz Homes

Raymond L. Hiers, Mission Viejo Company's first home salesman, was presented with an engraved silver punch bowl set in late June commemorating his achievement of selling 297 La Paz Homes worth a total of "well over $8 million."

In making the presentation, Philip J. Reilly, company president, said:

"When Ray started with us, over two years ago, Mission Viejo was little more than a general plan and 11,000 acres of raw land. We had no model homes, virtually no completed streets. Today, we have over 6,000 people and virtually everything we need to take care of them."

"As best as we can calculate, Ray Hiers is personally responsible for over one-sixth of these people living here. There are an estimated 11,288 people living in the 297 La Paz Homes he has sold."

Hiers sold the homes in a 110-week period, averaging 3.7 sales per week. He was recently promoted to the Mission Ridge development, where he heads sales for the community's largest, most luxurious homes.

A native of New Jersey, Hiers had "no home at all" for 14 years, when he lived out of a bus while playing trumpet with the Randy Brooks and Bob Chester bands during the post-war big-band era. He moved to California in 1963 and began his sales career by selling school supplies.

Hiers entered the real estate business in 1960 and sold homes in Hacienda Heights and Cypress before joining the Mission Viejo staff in 1969.

A firm believer in his product, Hiers owns two La Paz Homes. One is an investment which he lives in with his wife, Nana, and three children, Raydene, 13; Roland, 10; and Roger, 5.

New Eldorado, La Paz Units Open in July

Here come the campers! New units of the often-anticipated La Paz and Eldorado Homes go on sale this month, the first openings in several months. And, as if that wasn't enough to bring out the campers, each home is offering exciting new models.

"Super San Martine"

The 109 La Paz Homes of Unit 13 will go on the market Saturday, July 13, at 9 a.m. Eldorado Homes Unit 8 opens July 27 at 9 a.m. with 58 homes.

Highlighting the La Paz opening will be the introduction of Plan 44, an interesting variation of the extremely popular San Martine design. It will give buyers of the split-level home a fourth bedroom and full bath downstairs and an over-the-garage sun deck off the master bedroom upstairs.

John Martin, vice president of marketing and sales for Mission Viejo Company, said the "Super San Martine" is being offered because of the continuing strong demand for the basic San Martine plan and an often-mentioned plan for a fourth bedroom.

The new room can be many things - a third bedroom, or perhaps a fourth bedroom," he said. "It can be a den, a study room, a hobby room, or a incredibly unique room."

The standard San Martine, Plan 40, will continue to be built, Martin added.

He indicated that Unit 13 will offer the first La Paz homes to be built north of La Paz Road. Between Spadra Drive and the future Margarette Parkway, the homes will have sweeping views of Oso Valley.

"40 or 447?" Eldorado Homes will offer two brand new models, the 40 and the 66. Martin describes them as "two houses in one." He calls the new home design concept.

The 60 is an expansive single-level home that includes two big bedrooms, two baths, formal dining room and a large kitchen with eating space. This version is intended for both small young families and mature families with grown children.

The 66 version simply places a second floor on top of the basic 60 plan. In the process, a front hall starts to be added - and the dining room goes informal. The more than 900 sq. ft. of space on the second floor may be left as is until the family grows, or may be finished as a recreation room, two bedrooms with bath or three bedrooms with bath. Thus, the 66 can be tailored to any type of family.

Martin said arrangements are being made to accommodate the usual large crowds which greet each new unit. The unique situation of people standing in line for days to buy homes, he said, "reflects the public's awareness that Mission Viejo is a highly desirable place to live and that Eldorado Homes and La Paz Homes are outstanding designs and outstanding values."
Who's More Fortunate?

PRETTY ROBYN Liotta monopolizes attention as Martha and Joe Liotta enjoy the brother-sister exchange between Bob, who lost his Kennedy-esque appearance when he followed the current sideburns-and-moustache fashion.

Ebullient Martha Liotta feels she is an extremely fortunate person because she works "in a beautiful place," has customers who are "wonderful people," and lives just a few blocks from her job in Mission Viejo, which she describes as "a lovely community."

But hundreds of local residents will say that we’re the fortunate ones, for Martha is that comely redhead at the Mission Viejo Inn. Yes, she’s the one with the ready smile, the friendly manner, and the quick quip. She brightens every day for hundreds of inn regulars and guests as she dabs at their dishes as lusty as assistant manager-secretary.

In the temporary absence of Manager Tom Mitchell, Martha is responsible for the restaurant and bar facilities, a capacity in which she directs 20 employees as she strives to achieve the utmost in good food, fine service, and pleasant atmosphere.

"Bring Back Kits!"

Mrs. George Dicks, Mission Viejo chairman for the 1968 American Cancer Society Crusade, is appealing to all residents to bring the 1968 Cancer Crusade to an early close by turning in their crusade kits.

"There are still kits which have not been rounded up; she said. "We need every kit to reach our goal."

Women’s Club To Aid Youth

Putting heavy accent on youth, Rancho Viejo Women’s Club has named the community’s proposed teen center as the primary beneficiary of the funds it raises.

(Details on this new planned facility are on “The Younger Set” page.)

The club is also sponsoring a youth employment service this summer and a Candy Strippers chapter which is serving South Coast Community Hospital on Mondays and Fridays.

Mrs. Theodore Cooper, president, is leading the club’s efforts in behalf of Mission Viejo youth.

Sponsor Xmas Card Contest

Planning very well ahead, the Rancho Viejo Federated Women’s Club is sponsoring a Christmas card contest which will end August 2.

Contest regulations call for the design of the cards to be indigenous to the southern Orange County area and to be in sizes of 12 by 12, 15 by 15, or 20 by 24 inches. One or two colors on a white or colored background will be accepted.

Designs will be judged by a panel of judges composed of Phil Beil, president of the Mission Viejo Company; Ray Friesz, Laguna Beach artist; Al Hastie, Laguna Beach printer; Jean Linden, Rancho Viejo Women’s Club member; and Barbara Slater, Artists Association member.

The contest is open to local artists of any age. The two winning artists will be presented awards of merit.

Entry blanks may be obtained from local merchants. For further information, call Mrs. Edward Young, 837-0881.

Berry Named To S.J.S.D. Board

The "other half" of Mission Viejo's Berry family has become active in the cause of education. Ronald O. Berry, whose wife was recently indicted for her active role in the Saddleback College bond issue campaign, has been appointed to the board of trustees of the San Joaquin School District.

Berry, who live at 2001 Altico Drive, fills the vacancy created when William M. Jeffrey, Jr., moved out of Orange County. He was selected from a field of five other candidates.

Other members of the board are W. G. Staples, president, East Irvine; Gratian Bidart, president, La Habra; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Janicki, president, La Habra; and Capt. John N. Gosson, El Toro.

Robert Maurer assumes new responsibilities for Mis- sion Viejo Company.

Robert Maurer has been appointed to the dual position of property manager and director of purchasing by Mission Viejo Company. He previously had served the company a year and six months as purchasing agent.

New duties for the 31-year-old Maurer include managing all company-owned properties, such as the shopping center and recreation center, and directing purchasing for all company projects.

Prior to joining the company, he worked five years as a purchasing agent for other land development firms in Southern California.

Maurer majored in real estate at California State University and Orange Coast colleges. He holds a California real estate certificate and is a charter member of the Southern California Residential Purchasing Council.

Twenty-seven persons were received into membership in the Methodist Church of Mission Viejo on Sunday, May 15, to bring total membership to 135 persons representing 68 families, according to Rev. Dominick Tamietti.

Dr. Bremer Heads Saddleback

Dr. Fred H. Bremer has been named superintendent/president of Saddleback College. To assume the post Augus- t 1, he succeeds Jack S. Roper, the district's first super- intendent and president.

Dr. Bremer, currently vice president and dean of instruc- tion, was offered a three-year contract by the board of trus- tees. Roper, who declined a similar contract, will continue his duties through July.

The Board also named a new president at its annual organizational election. He is Michael T. Collins, at 27 years, the youngest board member. He succeeds Hans W. Vogel, the board's first president.

Dr. Bremer, 45, who assumed duties with Saddle- back Junior College District last October, served as dean of liberal arts at Santa Ana College and chairman of the education department and education division chairman at Chapman College before coming to Saddleback. He is former superintendent/presi- dent of McCloud City School and McCloud College, also a junior college, in McCloud, Neb.

In his new dual role, Dr. Bremer is superintendent of the district and president of the college.

Superintendent Roper will be retiring to the office of the county superintendent of schools. He was on a leave of absence as a deputy superin- tendent.

MISSION VIEJO REPORTER
The water bond issue will provide one 48-million gal., one 26-million gal., and one 2-million gal. reservoirs as well as pumping stations and supply mains. These facilities will be strategically located to provide adequate service for all future development, including a sufficient fire reserve.

The sanitation bond issue will enable Mission Viejo and other communities to jointly construct sewage collection, treatment and disposal facilities. The basic plan calls for the construction of sewers to the lower end of Aliso Creek, near the Pacific Ocean. At that location, the district will construct an adequate ocean outfall.

This plan is compatible with all pertinent county planning proposals and is supported by the Orange County Planning Commission. In late June, the State District Security Commission approved the plan, held that the proposal was economically sound and feasible, and stated that the district is believed justifiable in proceeding with the construction of sewers to the lower end of Aliso Creek, near the Pacific Ocean. At that location, the district will construct an adequate ocean outfall.

To avoid the imposition of inequitable property tax burdens due to the issuance of these additional bonds, the district board of directors in April adopted a policy to fix and collect, if necessary, acreage assessments within the present improvement districts. Supporting this policy, developers of substantial holdings of property in the area stated their willingness to pay these acreage assessments to stabilize and maintain a combined tax rate that would be comparable with other similar areas of Orange County.

To reduce the financial burden as much as possible, the district is currently seeking Federal funds, which would provide up to 50% of the cost of constructing the proposed sanitation facilities.

This special bond election for the Mission Viejo area Improvement Districts 3 (water) and 3A (sewer) of the Moulton-Niguel Water District will be held July 23, at the Mission Viejo High School, Room 218. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Use Your Bookmobile

The Orange County Public Library is urging local residents to use its bookmobiles for recreational as well as serious reading interests. The bookmobile leaves the Mission Viejo area twice a week and brings approximately 2,400 books, both juvenile and adult, as well as current magazines. The Bookmobile visits Mission Viejo every Monday (Chisanta-Cortina intersection, 1:00-2:45) and Saturday (La Paz Plaza, 10:00-12:00).

CONGRESSIONAL APPROVAL — Captured by the Reporter camera recently in La Paz Plaza are Congressman Richard T. Hanna (holding literature), and Richard Keyser, (second from right), newly appointed director of the Santa Ana office of the Federal Housing Administration. Acting as guides were: (from left) Philip J. Reilly, R. J. O'Neill, and Bob Osborne. Hanna said it was "a pleasure" to see the growth of Orange County implemented in Mission Viejo "in such pleasant and effective manner."

Just call the Inn any time and order anything on its menu. They'll package it nicely for you, and you can pick it up when it's ready.

Holdforth forth as chef in the Inn's kitchen now is Fred Westerwelle, from Cologne, Germany. He's been in the United States six years, and worked at the Victor Hugo Inn in Laguna Beach before coming to Mission Viejo.
